Albert Taylor Tonight

Mr. Taylor is an actor of ability and of pleasing, courteous disposition. He is one of the very few southern men on the stage and comes of an aristocratic and distinguished Montgomery, Ala., family, but is modest withal and unobtrusive in his ways. His grandfather, Peyton Ribb, was the first governor of Alabama, and it was at the latter's house President Jefferson Davis resided when he went to Montgomery to be inaugurated president of the Confederacy. President Davis married a daughter of Zachary Taylor.

president of the United States, who was a brother to Mr. Albert Taylor's great grandfather. Yet, while Mr. Taylor is proud of his lineage, he seldom speaks of it, preferring to stand on his own personal merit.

Mr. Taylor and his new big stock company will appear at the opera house for a week's stay, commencing tonight. They will present the great comedy success, "A Fool and His Money," and an olio of high-class polite vaudeville.

Tenn. Colony Marriage

Married, at the home of the bride's parents, near Tennessee Colony, on Wednesday evening, December 23rd, Mr. J. E. Barnett and Miss Clara Gore. A number of friends and relatives came to witness the blending of these two happy streams of life into one, which was an unusually quiet one. May their happiness increase with the passing years. J. V. KELLEY.

Bowling Contest.

Great interest is being manifested in the bowling contest at the Y. M. C. A. The Association is offering three prizes, one for the highest score, one for the greatest number of strikes, and one for the greatest number of spares. At present Mr. Chas. Stewart is leading in all three of these points. High score 211, strikes 21 and spares 30. The contest will close at 11 o'clock next Thursday night.

Married.

Wednesday night of last week Mr. D. W. Gore stole a march on his friends and got married. The young lady who has become Mrs. Gore, was Miss Vera Vannoy. County Judge Hudson tied the knot.

The Herald, with a host of other friends, wish for them a life of unalloyed happiness.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE IN WHIST

How "Absent Treatment" Is Said to Have Won a Match Game.

"Absent treatment," given by a Christian Scientist, is what caused the Newark Bay Boat club whist four of Bayonne, N. J., to win from the Forrest Hill team a few evenings ago by the unusual score of 22 to 8, according to the one who administered the treatment, Mrs. Julia Goldzier of Bayonne. Mrs. Goldzier is an enthusiastic follower of Christian Science, says the New York Herald.

When it was announced that it was because of Mrs. Goldzier's "absent treatment" that the Forrest Hills went down and out at the hands of the Bayonne team, whom they had previously defeated, there was a sensation among Bayonne whist players. On the Newark Bay team are Frederick Seeman, Joseph Thomas, George Christie and Harry Elsworth. A few days before that set for the whist match Mrs. Goldzier called upon Mrs. Alexander Christie. The latter told Mrs. Goldzier of her fears that the Forrest Hills were going to win from the Bayonne four. Mrs. Goldzier became interested and was anxious to have the local four win.

"If you will write the names of the Bayonne team, I will assure you they will win," said Mrs. Goldzier. Mrs. Christie was surprised, but did as requested. Mrs. Goldzier informed Mrs. Christie that she felt certain Christian Science would win even in whist games. Mrs. Goldzier, when asked regarding her connection with the victory of the Newark Bay team, said:

"The players were treated by me in Christian Science. To do this a Scientist must realize that matter has no real existence, that existence is but mental. Mind is all and has all power. In this case an important fact was that the players whom I treated were aware I was treating them. The night the contest took place I commenced the treatment at a quarter to 8 o'clock. I had an engagement at 8 and had to stop. Had I only had more time to devote to the treatment I know the score would have been 30 to 0 in favor of the Newark Bay team. It is to be regretted that the Newark Rays were defeated in their game with the Cosmopolitans in New York for the Metropolitan trophy. I treated them at that time and for a longer period, but they were not cognizant of it. Had they been I believe they would have won. They were opposed mentally.

"To one who does not understand Christian Science it is difficult to explain this treatment. I called up a picture in my mind's eye of each player on the Bayonne team and repeated his name twice. Light then came, and I knew the team would win."

A SCHOOL WITHOUT PUPILS

How a Teacher in an Ohio Township Regularly Attends to Her Duties.

Miss Sarah Scott, teacher of the country school in Franklin township, O., has a model school, and she is free from the cares and trials of the ordinary teacher, says the Toledo News-Bee. She is a teacher, school and all. She walks two miles each morning, rings the school bell at the regular time of convening, observes recess and noon lunch hour and dismisses school at 4 o'clock. But she has not a single pupil.

When she was appointed last August it was expected that some children in the district would be sent to school. However, all the young folk were qualified for the district high school, and so Miss Scott has none to teach. Being under contract, the directors told her to observe the regular school rules, and this she does. Regularly each day she reads from the first primer and does a problem or two from the arithmetic. When this is finished she has time for sewing and reading.

Sample of Edward VII's Repartee.

M. A. P. tells a new story on King Edward. It occurred during the recent visit to London of President and Mme. Loubet. His majesty escorted Mme. Loubet to dinner. She was noticeably nervous, but succeeded in asking about Queen Alexandra's health and the general welfare of the king's children. Mme. Loubet finally asked, "And what will your majesty make of your son?" "I hope to make him king of England some day," replied the king. And, despite her nervousness, the good lady could not but laugh at the quick answer.

he Salve That Heals
